The Legend of the Lamb and the Lion Bobbie Chalekian

There he was, Harry, a strange jungle lion with his large blue nose and never-ending tail, curled up like a kitten crying in front of a cave. The truth of the matter is not at all what Zelda, a fuzzy green and lavender lamb, had expected to find.

When Harry's unpredictable notorious roaring begins, the animals are so terrified that it sends them frantically running into their holes, caves, trees, and, wherever.

Then one day all of a sudden the roaring stops. In spite of her fear, Zelda is determined to find out what's happening and sets out on her own as all the other weird jungle animals are too frightened to venture with her in search of the fierce lion.

The story ends in total surprise which once again sends all the animals back into their holes, caves, trees, and wherever. Come, enter into the weird jungle and read through this humorous legend which emphasizes a biblical truth along with regards of true character represented in both Zelda and Harry. The venture is well worth it not only for children, but for adults as well.
